Continuation Sheet (PTOL-303) 009/663,585

Continuation of 2. NOTE:

Additional search would be required because the new claim limitations and new combinations of claim limitations requiring at least (1) the letter speech recognition unit not using a letter grammar which denotes probabilities of the occurrence of different possible letter combinations (claim 1, claim 5); (2) tree paths that at the beginning of the search have a small probability are not searched (claim 3); (3) the letter speech recognition unit (claim 5); (4) restricting a vocabulary assigned to the word speech recognition (claim 5); and (5) restricting to the recognition results of the letter speech recognition (claim 5, claim 6) present new issues. Patentability in view of combinations of references already of record must also be reconsidered, and whether all independent and dependent claims now distinctly claim the invention in light of the new claim limitations. The issue of introducing new matter must be considered.

Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because:

The Applicant contends that support for amendment to the claims may be found in the application. This argument is not persuasive because it is directed to subject matter that has not been entered.

The Applicant contends that the cited reference does not describe the aspect of the proposed amendment to the claims. This argument is not persuasive because the subject matter of the proposed amendments to the claims would introduce combinations of claim elements that prior Office actions did not consider in view of the prior art references.

The Applicant contends that subject matter of the proposed amendments to the claims would not require comparison with the prior art or further review beyond a cursory review. This argument is not persuasive because the subject matter of the proposed amendments to the claims would introduce combinations of claim elements that prior Office actions did not address.

Continuation of 10. Other:

Because of the delay in processing the Applicant's response, a draft version of this Advisory action has been faxed to the fax contact information found in the Office correspondence address information on November 16, 2004.
